Module Content

Outline Syllabus

This module provides the opportunity to engage with an in-depth filmmaking production process to broadcast standard, including pre-and post-production processes.

Your actor's performance skills will be extended as you also engage in:

- script development
- contextual research
- location scouting
- production planning
- location shooting
- production support
- post-production and ADR

You will analyse and evaluate this process, interpreting the production and your performance to measure its successes and areas for improvement in a format of your choice.

Module Overview

In this module you will work with industry filmmakers to realise a series of short films for public screening. You will reach professional standards and expectations, working independently to research and prepare for the production process and meet the vision of your director and creative team. You will exercise your ability to demonstrate technical aptitude, professionalism, organisation, and time management skills.
