Aims and Outcomes

Aims	This module aims to arm you with an insight into the particular sector of the industry you wish to work in when you graduate. You will be supplied with research strategies to identify this, and with SMART goals to assist your networking and correspondence with selected agents/employers. You will be required to generate self-promotional materials to demonstrate your skills and marketability, presenting works to an industry audience in live and digital showcases. You will be assessed on both your process and performance, providing useful feedback for future profiling, as well as the professional enterprise skills required to build and maintain industry relationships, contacts and networks.

Learning Outcomes

After completing the module the student should be able to:

Code	Description
MLO1	Research and target agents/employers demonstrating a professional aptitude to manage communication and correspondence
MLO2	Demonstrate the self-management of professional workloads and industry networking
MLO3	Demonstrate a professional aptitude to manage creative relationships in a variety of professional situations
MLO4	Critically research and evaluate creative performance possibilities in response to sourced material appropriate to industry profiling and goal achievement
MLO5	Demonstrate professional standard showcase performances across a variety of platforms and mediums

Module Content

Outline Syllabus

This module will prepare the students for stepping out into the industry as a professional actor. Students will exhibit their advanced acting and performance skills in a professional industry facing showcase. Additionally, they will synthesise their knowledge from previous modules to manifest their skills in the filming of a professional showreel. The module will ensure the student is able to present themselves professionally to the theatre and film industry.

Module Overview

The industry showcase provides an opportunity to present yourself to an invited audience of agents, casting directors and creative organisations, at leading performance venues in London and Manchester. You will create and generate digital and live material across a range of genres. Under the guidance of a professional director material will be selected to showcase your versatility, casting, and marketability and introduce you to members of the creative industries.
